

Dr. KRIS DE CLERCQ (CODA-CERVA, Brussels, Belgium)

Kris De Clercq is Doctor in Veterinary Medicine (1981), Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, State University of Gent, Belgium and 'Master of Science in Animal Production' (1983). Since 1985 he is working at the CODA-CERVA (Brussels, Belgium), Operational Directorate of Virology. Head of the Unit Vesicular and Exotic Diseases. His main activities are in foot-and-mouth disease, bluetongue, lumpy skin disease and sheep and goat pox and swine vesicular disease. Since 2009 he is Vice-President of the OIE Scientific Commission since 2009. He is also Head of the OIE Collaborative Centre and the FAO Reference Centre for Vesicular Diseases. De Clercq I was coordinator of two EC research projects and a project for the Bill and Melinda gates Foundation.

